

Bibliography

As well as this page being a wash-list of the references used in the essays on the website, the texts are offered as original pearl wisdoms or thought fragments in their own right. In this way you have the opportunity to return to each source document for further elaboration of relevant concepts without the mediating influence of my own texts. Each work represents a conversation partner whose thinking has contributed to my own understanding. As unlikely as some of these bedfellows may appear, such a wide research spectrum has been fundamental to my approach – to make sense of direct experience as well as attempt the translation of same via the nestedfishes site. It is a community of practice I am honoured to share further with the hope that it may bring illumination to your own practice.
